

[13] Course Registration (Ph.D. Degree Program)

Registering for Courses

Students enrolled in and after AY 2020 should register “Seminar I • II” of your main advisor to receive research supervision, and they must register for at least one of the Research Supervision Courses for both spring and fall semester as instructed by the main advisor and receive guidance.

Students enrolled in and before AY 2019 should register your main advisor’s “Directed Research” to receive research supervision.

For other courses, consult with your main advisor.

As a general rule, courses for Ph.D. degree program are unable to withdraw.

- Make sure to enter the correct code when you register the course online:

For courses offered in Ph.D Program of Graduate School of Global Studies, the course code should be the 8-digit code starting with “4 1 8” and be followed with a 3-digit class code

- Allow enough time and complete online course registration within the course registration period. Other than errors caused by Doshisha network failure or unless the server is down, the Office will not deal with any errors, or incomplete registration due to personal circumstances (e.g. PC trouble).
- For course registration for Spring Semester, any change (addition or cancel) cannot be accepted outside the registration period.
- Students must register all courses for both Semesters (not only for Spring Semester but also for Fall Semester) in April. Around late September (before the Fall Semester courses start), the change of course registration (addition/deregistration) for Fall Semester courses will be accepted. Please confirm the schedule determined which will be posted on message board in July.

Taking Master’s level courses

Students may take Master’s level courses if their main advisors deem the courses necessary.

Note: Undergraduate and Master’s level courses cannot be registered online. Be sure to complete registration at the Graduate School of Global Studies Office during the registration period. As for course withdrawal, see P.140.

Research Supervision

(*In case you would like to change your main advisor, due to the change of your research topic or other reasons, please consult with the faculty member in charge of Academic Affairs of the cluster you belongs to or Assistant Dean (Academic Affairs) of Graduate School of Global Studies.)
- Participation in academic conferences or seminars inside or outside Japan is encouraged.
